CARITAS CHORALE

Community Chorus

Founded in 1999, Caritas Chorale is dedicated to bringing the best in classical, traditional, and contemporary music to the Wood River Valley. The chorale is a community chorus, open to all who love to sing.

We usually perform four concerts a year with professional instrumentalists and soloists as appropriate. Rehearsals are held weekly leading up to each concert. All concerts are free to the community.

If you like to sing choral music, please join us. If you love to listen, come to our concerts.

Our Director

R.L. Rowsey has spent his life exploring the impact of music on our lives. A native of Richmond, Virginia, R.L. studied voice and piano at Virginia Commonwealth University. In his teens, he was the organist for a small Baptist Church and the musical director for a dinner theater.

Before moving to Idaho he taught music at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, held artistic and administrative positions with Theater Virginia, musically directed and conducted national tours of classical and new works, sang in and conducted contemporary operas for companies in the Washington, DC area. He was general manager for NETworks, one of the nations largest producers of national tours.

Now firmly entrenched in the Wood River Valley, R.L. is the Education Programs Artistic Director for the Sun Valley Summer Symphony, leads music at Light on the Mountain, is a contemporary artist with Company of Fools, and often directs productions for St. Thomas Playhouse. He also directs the B-tones and Enchante at Wood River High School. He proudly serves as the artistic director and conductor for Caritas Chorale.
